One of Britain's top mimics and comedians, Alistair McGowan, hosted the prestigious 2018 ECA Industry Awards at the London Hilton Bankside Hotel on Friday 8th June.

Organised by the Electrical Contractors' Association (ECA), the ECA Industry Awards recognise key achievements of the finest talent in the sector, providing a great opportunity for contractors and wider industry associates to showcase exceptional work.

Top-performing businesses and individuals from across the electrotechnical and engineering services gathered to see who had scooped the honours at this year's ceremony. Luton based Chalmor, experts in lighting and heating solutions, beat off stiff competition from five other shortlisted companies, including two commendations, to win the coveted Best Energy Solutions Project Award.

Steven Henry, Director of Chalmor, said "We are delighted to have won this much sought after and highly respected award. For over 30 years we have been providing innovative heating and lighting solutions. We are proud that our approach and solutions have been recognised and celebrated on such a scale by the wider industry and our peers."

The Best Energy Solutions Project Award recognises those who have delivered a significant energy-related solution. The judges were impressed, not only by Chalmor's breadth of energy-related solutions and their expertise and commitment in providing energy and cost savings solutions to their clients, but specifically work undertaken by Chalmor on a major town centre car park. Chalmor's holistic approach and tailored engineered solution saw them using the latest high performance LED lighting to deliver 6 years' increased service and £50,000 cost savings to the busy town centre car park in Northampton.

Helen Atkinson, Adjudicator and ECA Director of Member Services, commented: "Many congratulations to the twelve businesses that deservedly won this year's ECA Industry Awards, and also to the highly commended nominees who all submitted impressive award entries."
